A Successful Meeting

Held Tuesday Night in Behalf
Of The Kentucky Normal
College.

A most enthusiastic, encouraging and successful public meeting last Tuesday night was the result of the call for a gathering of the friends of the Kentucky Normal College. The meeting at the City Hall on Tuesday of last week had been adjourned to the Court House, and this call had been supplemented by a notice posted all about the city, asking that everybody go and lend their aid and their presence in behalf of the movement now in progress, having for its object the placing of the college upon a sure foundation. In response to the call the big court room was full of representative people, and these people were full of sympathy and enthusiastic feeling. It was in truth a representative audience. Every business, trade, labor and profession was there; the storekeeper, the mechanic, the laboring man, the preacher, the lawyer, the doctor, all were present and contributed in word and substantial deeds to make what was stated at the beginning of this article; the meeting was "enthusiastic, encouraging and successful."

The meeting was called to order by Col. Jay H. Northrup, who said that it was eminently proper to recognize the Great source of all blessings and he would ask Rev. Williams to invoke the Divine blessing. At the conclusion of the prayer M. S. Burns was unanimously chosen chairman of the meeting. In assuming this position Mr. Burns made some very appropriate remarks concerning the advantages offered by the college and the importance of keeping the school here. He also in speaking of the proposition which would be read, laid stress upon the fact that the citizens would not be called upon to give a single cent; that whatever sum anyone would become responsible for was actually a loan, amply secured and bearing 6 per cent. interest. Mr. Burns' remarks were to the point and well received.

C. L. Miller was made secretary of the meeting, after which M. F. Conley read the following proposition, whose conditions are made the basis upon which the sale of stock was made:

It is proposed that the citizens of Louisa and vicinity raise by private subscription about ten thousand dollars, or more if possible, to be used in erecting a college building on the site provided by the City of Louisa for the Kentucky Normal College.

The conditions of the proposition are as follows:

The building shall be erected according to plans approved by W. M. Byington and E. M. Kennison and a building committee to be selected by the subscribers to this fund. The work and the expenditure of the money to be done under the supervision of the building committee.

The building shall become the property of the corporation known as the Kentucky Normal College when same shall have complied with the following conditions:

The Kentucky Normal College is to have the use and control of the building after its completion and may add whatever improvement it may desire to add at its own expense. Said corporation shall pay to the building fund subscribers ten per cent. per annum, payable each year, for successive years, the said payments to be credited on the amount invested by these subscribers. The Kentucky Normal College shall also pay six per cent. per annum, payable each year, on the amount yet due by subscribers on the principal investment.

It is understood that in the event of an epidemic of disease which shall interfere with the attendance of the college sufficient to make it impossible to make it impossible to meet the payment in any year of the said interest, the time for such payment shall be extended one year. But in no event shall the interest be paid in any year to be deferred.

The ten per cent. annual payment is to be promptly distributed pro rata among the subscribers to this fund.

The collection of subscriptions is to be made by calls of twenty per cent as needed to carry on the work. It is estimated that this arrangement will give subscribers 5 or 6 months in which to pay up their subscriptions.

The subscribers to this building fund are to be secured by a lien or mortgage on the building and real estate of the Kentucky Normal College.

It is proposed to begin work on the building at the earliest possible time with the view of having it ready for use for the term of 1908-9.

The various features and provisions of the proposition were very clearly explained by the chairman, and then in response to a call Archibald A. C. Pigg displayed a large crayon drawing of the proposed building in perspective. This called forth prolonged applause. Mr. Pigg explained the various features of the drawing to the satisfaction of all and then calls were made for subscriptions.

Brother Williams was called to take charge of this part of the meeting, and his long training in taking up collections made him a very successful solicitor. It was not long before stock to the amount of fifty thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars was subscribed. While this was going on several gentlemen talked pertinently of the importance of keeping this great school in Louisa, and of the great and irreparable loss the community would sustain if by our negligence the school would go elsewhere.

When subscriptions to stock had reached the sum mentioned it was moved and carried that the meeting adjourn until next Tuesday night, March 17, at the Court House, at the hour of 7 o'clock, at which time and place there should be a mass meeting of the people such as that big building never held before. Go, everybody, and show by your presence and your aid, be this ever so small, that you want the Kentucky Normal College to abide with us; to form an integral part of this community, to continue its grand work in our mental and moral uplift and for the betterment of this whole section.

Before concluding this sketch of Tuesday night's meeting let the News say a word or two further. It does seem that any objection, either to the above proposition or to the laudable enterprise which it aims to foster has not the slightest foundation in fact.

The object is certainly in the highest degree praiseworthy. No man save and except him only who subscribes to the stock is one cent the gainer, and he who invests his single dollar or his hundreds is absolutely safe both as to principal and interest. It does not seem possible in view of these facts—and such they are—that a single voice should be raised against this movement. Close the college to day and send all those bright faced, intelligent, ambitious young men and women back to their homes, never to return as pupils.

Wouldn't we all feel the loss? Put up a ten or fifteen thousand dollar college building and fill it with the flower of the mountains, the young men and women who are their country's pride, wouldn't we feel that too? There are possibly a very few in our community who cannot afford to seize the financial end of this worthy movement. To them no blame is attached. But if, on the other hand, those who can afford to do so are not must be considered as being against the enterprise, and, taking everything into consideration this does not seem possible.

Let us all go to the Court House next Tuesday night; help, if we haven't helped, and join in the general jubilee over the good work well done.

A list of the subscribers will probably be published after all have had an opportunity to subscribe.

The River.

The river was really the "Big Sandy" this week. The recent heavy rains swelled the stream to a height of 27 feet, and much rafted timber went out before the Ohio backed our river to a point considerably above Louisa. Much apprehension was felt at Catlettsburg, but to-day the citizens of this town are breathless sighs—large in size and great relief over the passing of the danger.

J. C. C. MAYO

Smiles About His Narrow Escape
From U. S. Senatorship.

The following dispatch from Louisville to the Cincinnati Enquirer will interest Big Sandy people:

Louisville, Ky.,—Although he and his friends know that he could have been elected United States Senator from Kentucky had Governor Beckham said the word 24 hours before the final vote was taken, J. C. C. Mayo, of Paintsville, the Eastern Kentucky millionaire, was here to-day and was all smiles. The fact that he came so near to the Senatorship and then lost it did not worry him. He was never a candidate and never opened his mouth about it, but he was the only man, so it is now said, upon whom all the Democrats in the General Assembly could have united. Every one of the anti-Beckham Democrats notified friends of Governor Beckham some weeks ago that they would support Mayo. All the Beckham Democrats would have voted for Mayo had they been released sooner, because the Paintsville man is a straight Democrat and is perhaps the closest friend that Governor Beckham has in Kentucky.

After it was apparent that Bradley had received enough votes to elect him Beckham's friends pleaded with the anti-Beckham Democrats to vote for Mayo and elect him. They said it was then too late, that they had made the proposition days before and that it had been spurned by the men who should have been willing to have sent Mayo to the Senate.

Mayo was formerly a school teacher. By rare business ability and capacity he has become perhaps the wealthiest man in the commonwealth. He is interested in the development of Eastern Kentucky and has made vast sums of money out of mountain timber and coal lands. Mayo has never taken any part in politics, so far as holding office is concerned, and never held but one public position. Some month ago he was appointed a member of the Fair Board by Governor Beckham. His only interest in public affairs is to help the Democratic party and to work for the development of the state's resources. Many Democrats have tried to get him into politics, knowing that a man of his force and resourcefulness could be of great benefit to the party in the state. To-day he said that the Senatorship would have been a great honor and that he would have appreciated it, but that he had never thought about it, and the fact that it did not come to him had not disturbed him in the slightest.

PIKEVILLE.

Items of General Interest From
This Good Town.

Mrs. Penn Layne, at Laynesville, very sick.

Mrs. Jack Birkell died on Upper Shelby, leaving a husband and six children.

J. M. Bowling, of Pikeville, is a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney in that district.

Miss Adria Burns, of Huntington, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Burns, here.

Mrs. Nan Elliott, of Freeport, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Flansy for a few months.

Mrs. Long, of Cincinnati, is the charming guest of her son, H. Long, and wife, for a week.

Fine Entertainment.

Last Friday evening Miss Sadler Wheeler, assisted by some of her class in education, gave a very interesting entertainment at the Masonic Opera House. It consisted of recitations and monologues, and their rendition in very highly spoken of by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

Miss Wheeler has severed her connection with the college and gone to her home in Pittsburg. The News understands that she has a position in that city.

LOCK AVENUE FIRE.

Disastrous Conflagration Narrowly Averted.

What at one time promised to become a disastrous fire was discovered Tuesday morning at the residence of Frank Millender. Mrs. Millender smelled the smoke, and while hastily looking for its source saw through the transom over the door of the servant's room in the second story that something there was on fire. She at once gave the alarm and tried to open the heavy oak door. This was locked and the servant had gone with the key. Fortunately some of Contractor J. C. Thomas' men at the lock saw the flames issuing from a window, and they hastened to give assistance. About the time they got to the house the key of the room was secured. The men seized a number of pails, and as the bath room adjoined the room where the fire was no difficulty was experienced in speedily extinguishing the flames.

The fire had burned a hole some three or four feet square in the floor and was rapidly eating its way to the walls and the floor below when it was fortunately discovered.

Paintsville.

G. George at this place has sold his residence to G. R. Vaughan, and has moved to a farm near Portsmouth, O.

Mrs. Jno. C. C. Mayo has taken her little daughter to Cincinnati to undergo treatment at Dr. Holmes' Hospital. We hope she will recover speedily.

Earl Atkinson, son of Dr. W. F. Atkinson, of this place, visited home folks last week. Mr. Atkinson is cashier of a Mississippi bank. He is a fine young man, and we are glad to see him doing well.

The boys of the Paintsville Concert Band are going to build a new skating rink 120x50 feet, between the residence of J. H. Ramsey and Mrs. Dr. Gambell. The old rink will be used for the present.

Recaptured.

The readers of the News will recall the account published in this paper last fall of the shooting of Mr. Precey by a man named Nicholas. The shooting occurred on Gayan river, or maybe it was on Island creek. At any rate, Nicholas was arrested near Pikeville and taken to Williamson and released on bond. He jumped his bail and fled, and up to a day or so ago had successfully eluded capture. But yesterday Sheriff J. A. Scott and Mr. Precey came down from Pikeville with their prisoner and placed him in the county jail. They took No. 16 for Williamson, where Nicholas will be turned over to the jailer of Mingo county.

Other Cases Reversed.

The Court of Appeals has reversed another Lawrence County case, that of Magistrate John Hughes against Chas. Holbrook. Hughes fined Holbrook for obstructing a highway. The case was appealed to the Lawrence Circuit Court on a contention that a Magistrate has no jurisdiction. The court and the case went higher, where it was reversed.

The Court of Appeals also reversed the case of the C. and O. railroad against Crank, appealed from Lawrence.

The Carroll Comedy Company.

This clever aggregation is holding the boards at the local theater this week in a series of popular plays, very well presented. This show is clean and quite attractive. To-night they will give "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." There will be a matinee performance Saturday afternoon at which time a gold watch will be given to the lady who furnishes the greatest number of words from the letters in the word "Carroll."

BOLD BURGLARY.

The Louisa Furniture Company
Robbed of About $150
Worth.

When George Picklesimer, an employee of the Louisa Furniture Company, opened the doors of the store Wednesday morning he discovered that somebody had opened one door ahead of his arrival. This was the side door on Water street. One pane of glass in the upper half of the door had been shattered, and the burglar had then only to reach in and turn the key which had been left in the lock. An examination soon revealed the fact that a case in the room which held a large number of fine revolvers and razors had been broken open and its contents, valued at one hundred and fifty dollars, carried away. The robber or robbers left no tangible clue, but Mr. Shannon immediately telephoned to Wilbur for the famous Sweetnam bloodhounds.

These with their keepers arrived shortly after noon. They were at once taken to the scene of the burglary, and without any hesitation they took up a trail and followed it down the grade to the river. Here, of course, the scent was lost, but the dogs were immediately placed into a skiff and carried to the West Virginia shore. They were unable to pick up the trail again and after one or two attempts to find the scent the search was abandoned.

The news that bloodhounds had been sent for attracted a big crowd to the scene of the robbery, and the actions of the sagacious animals were viewed with great interest.

Much suspicion rests upon a certain individual, but no arrests have been made.

Died Monday at Allen City, Mrs. Breeding, wife of John Breeding, of that place. Mrs. Breeding was 38 years old, and contracted measles some two weeks ago, death resulting from same on Monday.

The jury in the case of Kansas Burckett, who killed his uncle, James Burckett, last fall, brought in a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at 21 years in the penitentiary.

For the Public Health.

Senator Watson's bill increasing the funds annually voted for the preservation of the good health of our State from $5,000 to $25,000 ought to become a law. It is a matter for congratulation the State Senate was practically of one mind last week in passing this important measure. It is soon to come before the lower House and it is to be hoped that the unanimity may be manifested there in its favor.

When Pennsylvania gives $1,000,000 Ohio $25,000, Indiana $25,000, Illinois $125,000, West Virginia $25,000, Tennessee $20,000 and Missouri about one hundred thousand dollars. Kentucky cannot neglect a plain duty.

With the increased fund available our State Board of Health could do untold the amount of its present useful work, and the appropriation asked is less than it ought to be.—Courier Journal.

Gone to Oklahoma.

During the past three weeks quite a large number of families have left this section for Oklahoma.

Seven citizens of Pike county, with their families, left last Wednesday.

TATTLEERS.

Oh! could there in this world be found. Some little nest of happy ground Where village pleasures might be found.

Without the village tattle. How doubly blest that spot would be.

Where all might dwell in liberty. Free from the bitter misery

Of gossip's endless prattle? Every community is cursed by a class of people who make it their business to attend to everybody's business but their own. Such people are the meanest specimens of depraved humanity which an all-wise Providence permits to live on this green earth. It is well known that almost every woman in this community is disposed to speak evil of others, and tattling is a sin from which very few are exempt. It is entirely excusable. But the object of this article is to call attention to that distinct class of tattleers who make it their business to attend to everybody's business but their own. Fortunately we have but few in this community, but no community is entirely free from them. They try to intrude into the private affairs of every family in the neighborhood. They know the exact state of one neighbor's feelings towards another; they know everybody's faults, and no little blunder or misdeed ever escapes their vigilant watchfulness. They are particularly well-posted on everything connected with courtship and matrimony, know who are going to marry and can guess the exact time when the golden knot will be tied. They watch every movement of parties suspected of matrimonial intentions, and if there is the slightest chance to create a disturbance, excite jealousy, or "break up" a match, they take immediate advantage of it to do all in their power to keep the people in a constant state of vexation. They glide quietly from gentleman to lady, from mother to daughter, from father to son, and into the ears of all they pour their dark, bitter whisperings of slander and abuse, and at the same time pretend to be the most sincere friend of those they talk to. Their black and malicious pills of malicious slander are sugar-coated with smiles and honeyed words of friendship.

Tattleers are confined to no particular class of society. They belong to all classes, and operate in all. We find them among the rich and the poor—"upper ten" and the "lower million." In the church and out of it. They are people who have no higher ambition than to be well informed in regard to other people's private business, to retail scandal to their neighbors, and exist in fiendish triumph over the wounded feelings and bruised hearts of their innocent victims. Our contempt for such graceless creatures knows no bounds, and we can find no words in which to express its infamy. What punishment they deserve we cannot know; but God knows, and as sure as his eternal justice reigns, they will receive a retribution proportioned to the magnitude of their offenses against the laws of God and his interests of humanity.

Gov. Willson has threatened to call an extra session of the Legislature. Doesn't he know when he has had enough?

Taft continues to line up the Republican organizations of the United States systematically and persistently. The nomination seems to be coming nearer his grasp all the time.

The Legislature will adjourn next Tuesday. Unless they redeem themselves within the few remaining days we believe a summing up will show that they have done more harm than good.

Now that a requiem is being sung over the graves of the county unit bill, due to the action of the Senate, which makes any favorable action on them very improbable at this season, another all-absorbing topic has been relegated to the rear.

Now that the die has been cast and temperance legislation at this session almost certainly killed, the advocates of such measures do not hesitate to say that absolute prohibition will be their next battle cry. The charge is made that the liquor interests have overstepped the mark in trying to dictate absolutely, what shall and what shall not be done in the way of legislation, and that a prohibition amendment will be demanded from the members of the next legislature and that on it a big victory will be won.

The News said months ago that when the politicians made capital of the temperance question, pro and con, the cause was in danger.

FROM FLORIDA

Another Letter From Our Friend

John W. Jones.

Hastings, Fla., Feb. 21, 1934.
The chief industry here is that of raising sweet and Irish potatoes, and also truck patches for the early markets. I am told that the land produces from 40 to 75 barrels per acre, and each barrel containing 2 1/2 bushels.

I suppose from the information it is one of the best potato raising in the State. In the first place I will tell you how the land is prepared, planted and harvested so far as I have seen.

The ground is first turned by a large plow drawn by a large span of horses or mules. It is then turned over into ridges. Ten ridges from a plot and these look to be three feet apart. There is a considerable trench between each plot. There is a deeper ditch run around the whole field.

These ditches are made for the purpose of drainage and irrigation.

In the next place it is fertilized. The raise two crops each year. A fertilizer machine that is drawn by one horse or mule distributes the fertilizer at the same time. A machine follows just behind with four discs which mixes and turns the fertilizer under. Next comes the planting.

They take the driller which makes the furrow, drops the potatoes and covers them.

In harvesting the early crop they commence in December, using something like one of our hill-side plows with double mould board, they run through the center of the ridge, splitting it and turning the potatoes out. Women and boys, mostly black, take them out and throw them in piles. A large wagon follows distributing sacks. Then the potatoes are sacked and tied and hauled to the barn for barreling. The barrels are set up by coopers on the farm. The potatoes are shipped to cities all along the eastern coast and perhaps to many other points.

The farmers to smooth the ridges down by hauling a drag over them. In a short time the ground is thickly covered with crab grass which comes up spontaneously. I am informed that they get two crops of this sometimes and this is all the hay that is raised here. The only timothy or clover that I have seen is shipped from elsewhere. They bale a great deal of the crab grass it is so much easier handled. Scarcely ever see any oats or corn. They raise some corn but is never planted until the potato crop is harvested.

It doesn't yield much. There are several large truck patches with all kinds of vegetables for the early markets. Some celery is raised, but all that I have noticed is small and dwarfish. Don't think the soil suits it. As to fruit I have noticed no apples or peaches. Saw a few patches of strawberries in bloom in December but they also look dwarfish, not as well as they do with us.

Have seen a banana bush and fig tree, but the season is not long enough for them to properly mature. Have noticed two or three patches of Louisiana sugar cane, a few stalks pretty good size. This is an experiment. I have seen several small orange groves with oranges, grape fruit and tangerines in same grove bushes loaded with fruit. Most too early to see them in bloom. Have seen an orchard of two or three pecans but it seems to me that it would be like Sloan's potatoes—too long to wait. They appear to have very slow growth. Have seen a few magnolias and a cluster of bamboo. Also a camphor tree. No flowers save a few scrubby looking rose.

"My bread won't raise" is a common complaint among housewives. A doughy loaf, but there's always a cause. Nine times out of ten it's an accident of the flour.

Death visited our community rather unexpectedly Tuesday Feb. 25, 1934, and took from us the wife of V. B. Shortridge. She had been sick only a few hours previous to her death, and very few friends thought that death was so near. She was the daughter of William Webb and was reared in this county, in the same neighborhood in which she spent her entire life. She was 49 years of age. She was a devoted Christian and was loved by all who knew her.

She is survived by a husband and five children. She was laid to rest to rest in the family burying ground near her home. Weep not, dear husband and children, for mother is not dead, only asleep in Jesus. We extend to her bereaved family and friends our heartfelt sympathy in their deplorable loss. "B-4"

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

Important Rulings Made By Postoffice Department.

The Postmaster General of the United States has just made an order which will have the effect of prohibiting weekly newspapers from extending credit to subscribers for more than one year's subscription.

If a publisher sends his paper longer than one year on credit he must affix a one-cent stamp to each copy thus mailed. This is ten times as much postage as is charged on paid subscriptions and the difference in the two rates is more than the publisher's profit.

The Big Sandy News has a small percentage of subscribers who will be reached by this order. We hope this will be sufficient notice to them and that they will give the matter immediate attention. The date on your label is intended to show the time you are paid to. If you are in doubt about the amount due write at once.

THE FARM.

Matters of Interest To The Greatest of All Industries.

In cow feeding, cow peas and alfalfa hay make a good substitute for wheat bran.

Let the horse eat all the dirt he wants. It is good for him. Occasionally throw a can of turpentine into the feed box.

The era of big hogs seems to be passing away. Hogs weighing from 125 to 200 pounds—the smooth small-boned kind—bring the best money.

For bumble foot poultry paint, the corn liberally with tincture of iodine daily for a week. If this is done in the early stages the corn can be spread.

One hundred pounds of wheat bran contains 12.2 pounds of digestible protein, 39.2 pounds of digestible carbohydrates and 2.7 pounds either extract or fat.

Profit lies not so much in big crops as in good ones. A 30 acre farm properly tilled and cared for will yield quality that is worth more money than will a farm twice the size, with a crop of an inferior sort.

Angora goats generally live twice as long as sheep. A healthy goat will eat about 750 pounds of hay in one winter, but will manage to get along on a reasonably good brush pasture in the summer without anything else.

Wyoming experiments in preserving fence posts show that when the posts were dipped in crude petroleum and burned off so that the char comes above the ground when posts are set, they will keep indefinitely.

When manure becomes heated and the odor of ammonia is noticed, there is then a loss of valuable fertilizing substance—nitrogen. If the heat is very high force a crowbar down in the heap in several places and pour cold water in to reduce the temperature.

Manure is simply materials that have been moistened and decomposed (digested) within the body of an animal. To apply such raw materials as bran and linseed meal directly to the soil would be of no advantage, notwithstanding that they are excellent fertilizers, their value being increased by feeding to stock.

Clovers differ greatly as to their ability to live with water at their roots. Thus the red varieties must be grown on land where water does not stand. A large proportion of the failure in getting catches of clover are doubtless due to the sowing of the seed on properly drained land.

Goose feathers are often treated in this manner: After being spread in some clean dry airy place they should be turned over with a fork every few days until thoroughly dried. If placed in bags and well steamed they are more valuable, as the steam has a tendency to purify them, removing much of the oily odor they naturally have.

The Arizona Station has recorded the results of a cold rain on the flow of milk on the station herd. The cows were exposed for three days to a cold rain. During this time the herd decreased 37 per cent. in milk yield and continued until it reached 50 per cent. and it was a month until the cows gave as much milk as before the storm. This is what might be called a cash illustration of the value of sheltering cows from cold rain.

Every head of clover consists of about sixty flower tubes, each of which contains an infinitesimal quantity of sugar. Bees will often visit a hundred different heads of clover before retiring to the hive, and in order to obtain the sugar necessary for a load must, therefore thrust their tongues into about 6,000 different flowers. A bee will make 20 trips a day when the clover is convenient to the hive, and thus draw sugar from 120,000 different flowers in a single day.

Lice on cattle indicate lack of attention and poor food. Grease of any kind will destroy a louse, but grease should not be used if it can be avoided. First wash the animal with kerosene emulsion and follow with clean water. When the skin is dry clean every portion of the body with a mixture of a peck of carbonate of lime and a bushel of clean, dry dirt. If a single animal is infested with lice the others will soon be in the same condition unless remedies are used as a preventive.

The cows that are used to calve should be fed on moderate food each as silage or roots, bran, linseed meal with a little oats. Keep the bowels open and do not feed very heavy on grains just before or after calving. After calving give bran mash and warm the drinking water for a few days. Allow the calf to suck for about two days and then feed his mother's milk from a pail for about two weeks, about three quarts twice a day; after that reduce it with skim milk or warm water, so that at the end of the fourth week the calf will be getting all milk or half whole milk and half warm water with some reliable tonic to aid digestion. Keep a supply of good clover or alfalfa hay within reach and also some ground oats with a little linseed meal mixed with it. After the calf eats the ground feed, gradually get him used to eating whole oats, as this is the best feed for him up to six months old. The heifers should not be bred until about 15 or 18 months old.

SPRAYING GRAPES.

This month is the time for putting vines in healthy condition for the season. The Agriculturist recommends two sprayings with Bordeaux mixture before the blooms appear.

1. Spray before the buds break in the spring with copper sulphate.
2. Spray just before blossoming with Paris green Bordeaux.
3. Spray after fruit has set, with Paris green Bordeaux.
4. Continue spraying every 10 days up to July 1st with Bordeaux mixture.
5. Spray three times from the 1st of July to the middle of August with ammoniacal solution of copper carbonate. This last solution will not discolor the fruit for market.

These sprayings, if carried out, will be sufficient to hold in check the flea beetles, leaf rollers, caterpillars, bird's eye rot, back rot, downy mildew, powdery mildew and ripe rot.

Hymn Singing Out of Style.

"The other morning," remarked the old-fashioned man, "I had to put the question to myself as to whether people ever sang hymns any more in New York outside of church. It came about through my hearing a woman singing 'Lead, Kindly Light,' the words and melody of which came floating down to my room through an airshaft. When I heard it I was reminded of the fact that in the five years I've lived here I never heard any one singing a hymn before in our apartment house, or anywhere else, so far as that goes, save in church or on the street corner by the Salvation Army. And yet, although I never go to vaudeville performances, I am kept thoroughly informed, through the medium of that same airshaft, as to what is the latest thing in popularity. Old-fashioned hymn-singing, like old-fashioned homes, are out of date, I guess."

About Babies.

"Babies are 'creatures of habit.' Half the trouble of child-rearing is caused by allowing them to become creatures of bad habits instead of good ones. You deserve a gold medal, my dear young lady, for your management of Marjorie."

"Well, her papa deserves one, too," cried Marjorie's mother proudly. "He had every bit as much to do with her management as I had."

"No, I had to do with the theory, not with the practice."

"Well," said the doctor, "both theory and practice are needed for the successful management of children. You have combined both, and the consequence is you are rearing a fine child, and I most heartily congratulate you on the way you have reared Marjorie during her first and her second year."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

New Chinese Army.

The Rev. Ng Poon Chow, the Chinese editor, who addressed the Inter-denominational Missionary conference in Calvary church last night, aroused the possibilities of his audience by a well meant comment on the new army which his country is now developing. "China," said the learned Oriental, "is raising a standing army of one million men."

After a pause, in which he allowed his auditors to grasp the extent of his statement, he added with an intangible Mongolian lisp:

"China has never had a standing army. It has always been either a running army or a sitting army."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Anti-Monopoly Crusade.

Uncle Jephtha—The railroad is selling tickets to Chicago for four dollars. They can't afford to do it at that price.

Uncle Steve—No; that's what Hiram said. He went and bought nine tickets and didn't use one of 'em. Said if he had money enough he'd keep on buying tickets till he'd busted up the hell railroad monopoly. He's got it in for the trusts, I'll say—Pack.

Remember that when the stomach nerves fail or weaken, Dyspepsia or indigestion must always follow. But strengthen these same weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and then see how quickly health will again return. Weak Heart and Kidney nerves can also be strengthened with the Restorative, where heart pain, palpitation, or kidney weakness is found. Don't drug the stomach or stimulate the heart or kidneys. That is wrong. Go to the cause of these ailments. Strengthen these weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and get well. A simple single test will surely tell. Louisa Drug Company.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Representative Langley, of the Tenth Kentucky district, presided over the House during the eulogies of the late Representative Slem, of Virginia. It is exceptional for a member in his first term to relieve the Speaker.

Fullerton, Greenup county, Ky.—Workmen, while excavating for a cellar, came across an iron pot containing $5,000 in gold coin. Michael Friel, owner of the lot, claims the coin as his by right of owning the land, but the workmen refused to give it up until the law decides the ownership.

The Vansant Kitchen Company will start their big lumber plant at Key Creek next Monday after a shut-down of several weeks. This will be welcome news to a considerable number of men in this city and Catlettsburg, who have been heretofore employed there. It is said there is work ahead to run the plant indefinitely.

Late Friday afternoon the cottage home of Eugene ("Hawk") McCoy, in the hollow back of Cliffside Casino, was totally destroyed by fire, together with all the contents. Besides this he lost $240 in currency—twelve $20 bills.

He carried no insurance on the house or contents. Mrs. McCoy had left the house in search of her children, who were out in the woods. She was gone but a few minutes, and when she returned she found her home in flames. She ran inside and rescued her young babe, at the peril of her life, and the fire spread too rapidly to permit of the saving of any of the contents.

MORAL:—Deposit your money in a bank.

C. A. Bennett, private secretary his father, Congressman J. B. Bennett, of Greenup, and Miss Ethel Morton, daughter of Alvin Morton, the well known tie man, were united in marriage at the beautiful Morton home on Front street, in Greenup. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. D. R. Francis, of the Central Christian church, of Ironton.

Miscalculating the width of the C. & O. ferry boat at South Portsmouth early Thursday evening, John Bally, a well-known resident of Greenup county, deliberately walked off the station and plunged into the rapidly rising Ohio river. He immediately sank to his death, and efforts to rescue him were futile.

The unfortunate man had only one eye and his vision was seriously impaired. He had spent the day in Portsmouth, and it is said, was under the influence of intoxicants.

Bailey was perhaps 65 years of age and served with distinction in the Civil War. He was an uncle of Ex-Sheriff Sam Bailey, of Greenup, and his home is located about five miles back of Greenup.
